December 2016

Dear Friends of Persian and Himalayan Cat Rescue,

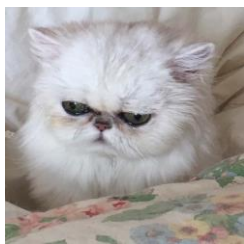

And so it begins again in 2017... 2016 is fleeing, and the challenge of saving as many of these precious creatures begins again. Actually, it never ends and honestly it takes a village of dedicated people like you to save them.

Individual challenges continue to bring us the cats: money, housing, medical (people and cats!) and family issues etc., and we are happy to help. But then the most rewarding calls are from folks who want to fill their hearts again with the love that a Persian or Himalayan cat can bring -- and adopt again.

Hours are spent on intake from the initial call to arranging transport, getting sick ones to the vet immediately, to finding fosterers who can hold them while they are in transition. Persiancats.org and Petfinder postings are a large part of our success in generating calls/adoptions. Our partnership with Animal Outreach of the Mother Lode, a shelter in central California, continues to grow and allows us to save so many more cats than we did before and keep our medical bills low. We thank Jeannie, Dr. Harmon and the staff for their tireless help.

What makes it successful? Caring adopters who know rescue is the way to go and the generosity of our friends and adopters whose donations keep this going. !00% of donations and adoption fees go to the cats.

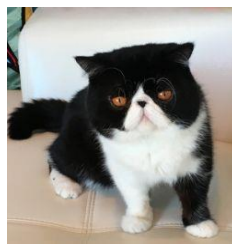

We love how engaged you all are! Many of you follow the web site and send notes of support or inquiring about a certain cat and how you can help even if you can't adopt. We thank you for that concern and we also thank you for all the wonderful follow up emails and photos of our adopted cats in their new homes – or even if you've had a cat for a while. We LOVE to receive them. In fact, it makes our day!
